Lost pocket

That story happened to me a couple of years ago. I was at home when my close friend called me and said: "Hello, Nikita, are you busy? I have got something interesting to tell. I told him that he could call on me right now. And he did. When he came he was very happy. He told me that he had found the pocket with money. There were about two hundred dollars. I asked him, where he had found it. "It was just on a road. I was walking along the street." I was really excited of his luck. When I asked, if he was going to take this pocket back he answered: "I have not decided yet". I tried to make him take it back, but he wanted to take it and spend all the money. We had a big argument. In a few days I met him and asked what he did with that pocket. He was looking at me and telling nothing. After a couple of minutes of silence he cried out. I was surprised. I've never seen him crying. He told me that yesterday night he thought if the owner of the pocket could be a poor ~~girl~~ ^{phone} woman with two children. I told him to keep calm. We found a number on the pocket, called the owner and ~~take~~ took it back. It was an old man. He was so happy to get the pocket back. He gave us some sweets and ten dollars. My friend had an excellent mood. He said: "It was the best idea to take the pocket back. It is much better to make other feel happy." I agree with this opinion and want to add that all kind matters you ever did will pay off somewhere.
